

EVALUATING JUST TRANSITION TO A POST-OIL FUTURE THROUGH A GENDERED LENS

DR EREBI NDONI
SCHOOL OF LAW
AMERICAN UNIVERSITY OF NIGERIA

OUTLINE

- Background
- Methodology
- Just Transition
- Gender Justice
- Process
- Conclusion

BACKGROUND

- Women's economic empowerment is central to climate policy and action
- Under-representation in decision making
- Patriarchy
- Socially constructed roles and gender stereotypes
- Gender-based violence
- Unpaid care work, financially undervalued informal work at greater risk of climate variability
- Intersectional realities
- Disproportionate recognition of women entrepreneurs

JUST TRANSITION

GENDER JUSTICE

- The full equality and equity between men and women in all spheres of life, resulting in women jointly and on an equal basis with men, defining and shaping the policies, structures and decisions that affect their lives and the society.

PROCESS

- Gender analysis to understand context, intersectionality and power dynamics
- SDGs

Design better responses in Just Transition

CONCLUSION

- A ‘just transition’ to sustainable development can only be achieved if women are actively involved in developing and implementing all aspects of mitigation and adaptation- Enhanced Lima Work Programme on Gender.
- Women should be agents of change.