Learning is will be directed, supported and reinforced through a combination of lectures, tutorials and guided private study to help you achieve all the module's learning outcomes. Lectures will deliver theory and an introduction to the topics. Tutorials will cover analysis and critique of the theoretical foundations of equity and of the relevant principles and rules (LO1). Case studies will be used to teach you the practical application of the law (LO2) and help you develop appropriate written communication on trust law (LO4). You will be required to perform independent research and presentation exercises (LO3). Additional materials will be supplied through a virtual learning environment.

The sessions will highlight issues related to sustainable development, such as ethical issues and dilemmas facing trustees and fiduciaries, and the contribution of law towards the achievement of equality and fairness for all by correcting common law injustices. Oral feedback will be given in the class and opportunities for written feedback will be provided. Tutors will be available to meet you individually, if requested, to discuss further feedback opportunities and review your progress. Formative assessments will be also made available. Summative assessment will be in two parts: by coursework and by examination.

The two modes of assessment combined will assess your ability to achieve all the learning outcomes. Both parts will combine essay-style and problem-style questions.
